eBird 2018--Year in review\(/news/ebird-2018-year-in-review\)

Sixteen years ago, we embarked on a grand experiment: using the web to connect birdwatchers around the world in a way that informs research and conservation. With every year that goes by, we're humbled and awed by the passion and drive of the community that continues to power this experiment.

A new era of eBird Science: Status and Trends\(/news/a-new-era-of-ebird-science-status-and-trends\)

This month we are excited to announce a huge advance in the understanding of birds, only made possible using eBird data. The result of all this hard work is eBird Status and Trends—detailed population information for 107 species of North American birds, providing an unprecedented depth of information in four key areas...

eBird Essentials\(/news/ebird-essentials\) eBird has many ways to help your birding—and we bet you don't know them all. Whether you're just starting out or have been eBirding for years, we think that our new free eBird Essentials course has at least one tip, trick, or piece of key info that you haven't seen before.
